Leafs Astound Hockey World By Reaching NHL Semi-Finals

Regan Leads Leafs into Series

Battling for a bouncing puck are Larry Regan of the Toronto Maple Leafs and defenceman Marcel Pronovost and goaltender Terry Sawchuck of Detroit Red Wings. Regan scored two goals and assisted on another two Sunday as the Leafs defeated Detroit, 6-4, to beat out New York Rangers for fourth place and the final playoff spot.—(CPC)

"We'll knock the Bruins off in six games. After that we'll take Montreal in seven in overtime. The only thing I haven't figured out is who will score that overtime goal."

This was a jubilant coach Punch Imlach talking, whose Toronto Male Leafs open a best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series in Boston tonight, fresh from a Sunday night triumph that saw them squeeze past New York into the National Hockey League playoffs.

Toronto defeated Detroit, 6-4, for their sixth straight win Sunday and moved one point past the Rangers into fourth place. New York finished a disastrous slump by dropping their sixth game in seven starts, 4-2, to Montreal.

Imlach was making his choices on the basis of Toronto's "confidence and team spirit." But the people who make a living on such matters pick Boston as 11-5 favorites over the Leafs; Montreal as 4½-1 over Chicago, and the Canadiens 2½-1 to retain the cup.

A CBC spokesman said last night that it is "highly unlikely" that tonight's opening game would be televised. Toronto's rise to the playoffs was not anticipated, and the network has previous commitments.

With both semi-finals opening tonight (Chicago is at Montreal), all four coaches were in their pitching with the usual pre-game statements and evasions. Coach Milt Schmidt of Boston, in reply to the cockiness of Imlach, said he foresees "a close, dog-eat-dog series between two rugged clubs."

Hawks 'Dark Horses'

In Montreal, Tommy Ivan called his Black Hawks "the dark horses of the playoffs," although they won only one of 14 games against the Canadiens this season, tying five.

Toe Blake of the Canadiens, out to set a record of four straight Stanley Cup championships, was as close to confidence as he dared let himself get.

Blake was heartened by the fact that goalie Jacques Plante, suffering from a neck boil, was working out yesterday along with forwards Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion. Richard was skating yesterday and Sunday for the first time since he broke his ankle Jan. 18. He said he hopes to be ready for the final series.

Blake indicated that Plante would likely be in goal tonight, but that if he isn't ready Charlie Hodge would start.

Toronto's must victory Sunday night was in doubt from the start. Detroit blew 2-0 and 3-2 leads, tied it up going into the final period, but couldn't hold the Leafs in the last 20 minutes.

Larry Regan, acquired from Boston in mid-season, led Toronto with two goals and a pair of assists. Bobby Baun, Carl Brewer, Dick Duff and Billy Harris, Norm Ullman and Marcel Pronovost each got a pair for Detroit.

At Montreal, the Rangers dropped their game to the Habs, then sat in the dressing room to listen and see if the Leafs could come up with the win that would knock New York out of the fourth place.

Jean Beliveau helped sink the Rangers with two goals, and Dickie Moore and Henri Richard each scored once. Harry Howell and Camille Henry scored for New York, both on passes from Andy Hebenton.

In Sunday's other game, the Black Hawks disposed of Boston Bruins, 4-1, in a game that had no effect on the final standings.

Second games of the semi-finals will be played Thursday at Montreal and Boston.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Davey Moore's fight with Hogan Bassey didn't make television in this town because the local air was pre-empted by that tasteful tubful of bathos entitled, "This Is Your Life." However, the morning paper brought news that Moore was the new featherweight champion of the world and also carried the announcement that Floyd Patterson would defend his heavyweight title against the English praetor, Brian London, in Las Vegas, April 21.

After Patterson's match with Roy Harris last summer, Cus D'Amato said he had given an unqualified promise that the champion would defend his title in June in Colorado Springs, as part of a gold rush centennial celebration. Perhaps when he said Colorado he really meant Nevada and New York. Could be that geography wasn't Cus' best subject in school.

Before D'Amato recognized London's physical, spiritual and social fitness to associate with his tiger, he had committed Patterson to a June bout with Ingemar Johansson in New York. The decision to take on the Englishman ahead of the Swede seems to imply either that Cus feels his jungle cat needs a tuneup match and considers London a suitably harmless playmate, or that he wants to make sure of a payday in the event that the courts forestall the Johansson match.

All the while Bill Rosensohn, the poor man's Marco Polo, was scouring around the western hemisphere in search of a site for the Johansson bout—and what a thrill of wild, exultant fulfillment he must have experienced when he discovered New York—authorities in the fight mob were predicting that legal action by Eddie Machen would knock the promotion in the head.

Machen Holds Paper

This remains a possibility. Machen, whom Johansson brained in the first round last fall, holds a paper signed by the Swede's "advisor," Edwin Ahlquist, promising him an opportunity to get stiffened again before Johansson fights anybody else. There is no assurance that he could not get an injunction holding Johansson to this promise if he chose to press his case at law.

He has no claim against Patterson or London, however. It is conceivable that D'Amato, realizing that a suit by Machen might put Johansson on the shelf, is taking on London to make sure Patterson gets some springtime exercise. This would be a switch, for Cus' operations up to now have been conducted with a view toward assuring Patterson plenty of leisure.

It is not clear how Las Vegas got into the picture. The Nevada sin capital was not mentioned prominently among the cities bidding for the Johansson match, although there was a photograph published showing Rosensohn discussing terms with several shapely showgirls in the dressing room of a boobytrap out there.

London's role in this drama may be merely that of a sparring partner employed to sharpen Patterson for the main task. It used to be common enough for a champion to take on a tuneup match to prepare for a title defence. It isn't exactly customary, though, for a patron to guarantee a quarter-million for such a workout. That's the figure which Cecil Rhodes, Jr., a newcomer in the fist-fight field, says he and two associates are putting up for Patterson and London.

Qualified by Losing

The bold Briton qualified for a title shot by losing the British Empire Championship to Henry (Twin) Cooper Jan. 12. Before that he had an interesting record.

In 1956 he was a fugitive from amateur ranks with 12 consecutive victories as a professional, all but one of them accomplished on knockouts. If it were not for the fact that all this carnage had been worked on British carnivori, this would mark him as an effective puncher. His 13th fight was against Cooper. Henry the Twin smote him on the mandible in the first round and Brian swooned, rising to fight no more that evening.

Some weeks later London resumed operations against an assassin named George Naufauh, whom he demolished in four rounds. Since then, things have gone this way and that with him. He won the British title from Joe Erskine, who had won it from Joe Bygraves, who had knocked out Henry Cooper. Then Cooper and London met again, Cooper won again, and that brings us up to date in a state of fairly happy confusion.

By all accounts, the Moore-Bassey fight was a rough and busy one. The little Nigerian was a first-class fighting champion, and Moore has been highly regarded for a couple of years. Presumably they'll have another go at it when the doctors have put Bassey's face together again.

By taking on all comers and giving a top performance every time out, Bassey has done a lot for the featherweight division. He is not, however, a cultural force like "This Is Your Life."

B.C. Bowler Recovers

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Allenby of Vancouver came back in the last game Sunday to defeat Bert Manarin of Calgary in the Alberta-British Columbia tenpin bowling championship.

Allenby now goes to Windsor, Ont., for the Canadian championships April 3-4.

He defeated Manarin 3,423 to 3,383 in the two-day, 18-game series.

Allenby was trailing by 26 pins going into the final game. He scored six consecutive strikes, then spared out for a total of 244 against Manarin's 178. He had 1,236 in Sunday's six games, to 1,116 for Manarin.

Moore Cracks NHL Record In Repeating Points Crown

Dickie Moore of Montreal Canadiens rules as National Hockey League scoring champion for the second straight season, and this time he won the title in record-breaking fashion.

The 29-year-old winger finished the season with 41 goals and 55 assists for a total of 96 points, one more than the old record held by Detroit's Gordie Howe. Moore also shared a record of sorts with linemate Jean Beliveau, runner-up with 45 goals, 46 assists and 91 points. It marked the first time that two players had ever topped 90 points in a season.

Moore won the Art Ross Trophy and $1,000 for his title. To Beliveau goes $500 and the record for most points ever scored by a centre. He held the previous record of 88 points himself.

Andy Bathgate of New York finished third with 88 points, followed by Howe with 88 and Ed Litzenberger of Chicago with 77.

Moore, whose total of 55 assists was only one short of the NHL record, started moving up after his second straight title when he was placed on a line with Beliveau and Marcel Bonin. They played together for only 16 games, and amassed the fantastic total of 37 goals, 60 assists and 97 points.

Beliveau, hottest scorer in hockey in the late stages of the season, had 19 goals in the 16 games and finished with a season-high total of 45.

Rugby Squad Wins; Japan Tour Ends

TOKYO—British Columbia's touring all-star rugby squad left for home today after winding up their month-long tour Sunday by playing to an 11-11 tie with an all-Japan side.

The Canadians led 11-8 going into the final minute of play but a B.C. penalty resulted in a tight scrum on their one-yard line and the Japanese forwards crossed the goal line for the tying try.

Veteran halfback Shigetsune Arai was called on to make the place kick for the winning two points but he missed the conversion.

The tie gave the Canadians a record of five victories, one defeat and two ties for their eight-game goodwill tour.

Both manager Dave MacKenzie of Victoria and coach Ken Banks expressed satisfaction that the visit served to exchange knowledge of the game and promote friendship between the two countries.

Baylor's 33 Sparks Hawks

Elgin Baylor, hitting for 33 points, led Minneapolis Lakers to a 106-98 victory over the St. Louis Hawks Sunday to square their best-of-seven western division final at one game apiece.

In eastern division playoff action, the Boston Celtics whipped the Syracuse Nationals, 133-111, to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven series.

Lakers and Hawks meet tonight in the third game of their series and Celtics and Nationals resume their battle for the eastern division championship Wednesday. Winner of each series will meet for the National Basketball Association championship.

Big Playoff Gates Hoped by Cougars

AL NICHOLSON . . . ties Dorohoy

Coach Pat Egan came up with a formula based on hard work and high hopes yesterday as he began getting his Victoria Cougars ready for the Western Hockey League playoffs.

Cougars, beaten 8-4 by the Totems at Seattle in Sunday's final game of the league schedule, had the day off yesterday. But now, according to Egan, "we practice today, Wednesday and Thursday, then go after the Totems in that first semi-final game Friday."

Cougars open the best-of-five semi-final in Seattle, and they have an extra-special reason for wanting to take the series. It boils down to a matter of cold, hard cash. The Cougars have to advance past the semi-finals of the western division if they are to have a chance of finishing in the black.

It's a rather puzzling state of affairs. Last season, when they finished dead last, the Cougars drew 97,000 fans, an increase of 6,000 over the previous year. Yet this season, when they had a contending club from the start and finished third, they drew only an estimated 85,000. The playoff gates could do much to straighten out the situation.

PLAYOFFS TONIGHT

Two semi-final series start tonight. Spokane Spokes visit Vancouver to begin the other western division semi-final against the Canucks. At Edmonton, the second-place Flyers host the third-place Winnipeg Warriors in the start of a best-of-five series.

Cougars' game Sunday was one of the wildest WHL contests in several seasons. At one time, there were eight players in the penalty box. Frank Arnett of Seattle, the league's bad man with 212 minutes in penalties, started a second-period brawl with Ted Harris that ended in four separate fights.

Al Nicholson tangled with Arnett in the third period, and drew a major and a match misconduct penalty that could have cost him the chance to become the highest-scoring Cougar in history.

Nicholson had two assists in the first period to bring his point total to 87, tying him for all-time Cougar honors with Ed Dorohoy. But when Nicholson started swinging sticks at Arnett after apparently being speared, he was banished from the game with 11 minutes, 42 seconds remaining to try and set the record.

Val Fonteyne and Guyle Fielder each scored twice for Seattle. Marc Boileau, Les Hunt, Tommy McVie and Rudy Filion got a goal each. Ron Blackburn got two goals for the Cougars, with singles to Ted Harris and Doug Anderson.

In Sunday's other game, Vancouver Canucks whipped New Westminster Royals, 5-2.

Fielder Wins Point Title

SEATTLE—Guyle Fielder, to the amazement of nobody, is the Western Hockey League's scoring champion for the third straight season.

The shifty centre of the Seattle Totems finished the season in a rash of points for a total of 119, 10 more than Eddie Dorohoy of Calgary Stampeders. However, since the eastern division teams played six fewer games than the western teams, Fielder and Dorohoy both receive $100 from the league as champions of their respective divisions.

THREE SHORT

Fielder's total was only three points short of his own all-time professional hockey record, and his amazing total of 95 assists broke his own league record of 88. Both the previous marks were set in the 1956-57 season.

Lou Jankowski of Calgary finished third in the over-all scoring list with 92 points, followed by Bill Mosienko (88), and Al Nicholson of Victoria Cougars 36-51—87. Only other Cougar amid the top scorers was Gordie Haworth, 13th with 21-52—73 points.

Jankowski was the league's top goal-getter with 45, three more than Mosienko. Frank Arnett became the league's new record-holding "bad-man" with 212 minutes, four more than Vancouver's Harry Dick in 1954-55. Gerry Brisson tied the record for most goals by a rookie with 38.

TOP GOALIE

Luchien Dechene of Saskatoon, who almost lost his job in mid-season, finished as the top goalie with a mark of 3.03, although the Quakers finished last in the eastern division.

Evecoes In Action Tonight

Evecoes, Victoria's entry in the Pacific Coast Summer Soccer League, will give local fans their first look at the newly-formed club tonight in an intra-squad game at Royal Athletic Park. Game time is 7 p.m.

Billed as Probables vs. Possibles, the game will give coach Willie Hamilton a chance to see how his charges perform under game conditions.

In Sunday's soccer action, Canadian Scottish and Heaneys battled to a 2-2 tie in their Victoria and District Football League semi-final. The game will be replayed.

Gorge Hotel and Esquimalt will meet next Sunday at Royal Athletic Park in the other semi-final.

Roy Jackson and Taffy Jones scored for Scottish Sunday with Gogi Stewart getting both goals for Heaneys.

Stewart's second-half goal forced the overtime and then he saved the game for Heaneys after Jones had scored for Scottish in the overtime period.

Sceptre Sold to Scot

The British yacht Sceptre, beaten in four races by the United States' Columbia in the America's Cup last year, was sold yesterday to Scottish yachtsman Eric Maxwell for an undisclosed price.

The 12-metre yacht was owned by a syndicate of members of the Royal Yacht Squadron, but after much advance publicity failed miserably against the Columbia as the British tried again to win back the America's Cup.

Total cost of the British challenge for the cup has been put at $196,000, although no official cost was ever made public.
